FOLLOWING THE NOSE.

WHAT THE FRONTISPIECE OF THE FACE SYMBOLIZES.

Qualities of Mind Indicated by the Roman, Grecian or Pug—What the Aggressive Nose Leads to—Other Observations.

["Sidartha" in Inter Ocean.]

The fool may only see in his nose a convenient thing to smell with; but the philosopher reads there the sure indications of sagacity (literally, keen scented), of judgment and force of character, with many other things not to be dispensed with in the mental furnishing of either civilized or savage. An inch on the end of a man's nose is a good deal, both as regards the dignity of expression in that appendage and the qualities of mind which it signifies. Roman, aquiline, Grecian, or pug, we are all obliged to wear it, and so it may be well for us to inquire what this frontispiece of the face symbolizes, in general and in particular.

Alexander the Great was a Greek, but at the upper part of his nose we see the prominent sign of aggression, which marked the Roman nose and character. It was this extremely large faculty which led Alexander to depart from the established policy of Greece, and to carry on aggressive wars of foreign conquest, and to plant colonies and kingdoms in other countries. The lower end of his nose indicated the same artistic and literary tastes which marked the Greeks as a nation. In the Apollo, in Venus, Mercury, and other idealizations of Greek art and thought, we see that delicate and perfect chiseling of the nostrils which indicates refinement and symmetry of intellect.

The common Roman nose was less finished at the end; its possessor loved knowledge for the sake of power and conquest, rather than for its own sake. Aggressions and self-defense were the leading signs which gave character to the Roman nose. They are large in the face of Julius Cæsar, who carried the genius of Roman conquest up to its meridian splendor. Civilization has always had to push its way against a mass of obstacles. The Roman nose is a moral battering ram to beat down these walls of savagery and ignorance.

No person with a very short nose ever made a profound impression in the world. The hard Roman nose pushing its way despite all personal suffering, has played a conspicuous part in the moral as well as the political advancement of the world. It dominated the old Roman race as well as the modern aggressive Briton. It carried Washington on to triumph, stood in the forefront of Lincoln's unyielding strength, as it had sustained the shocks of Waterloo in the face of the Iron Duke. Against him was pitted the Roman-nosed Napoleon, but, in the septum of Wellington's nose the sign of synthesis, of intellectual combination and perseverance, was very large, and this caused him to hold out on that day, even when the apparent tide of war had turned against him, until Blucher came, and all was saved.

The face of John Wesley, a cousin of Wellington, shows the same aggressive character. In all the great founders of religions, or of sects, we see the same aggressive nose. It stands boldly forth in the face of Zoroaster, in Mahomet, in Calvin, in the otherwise gentle face of the Nazarene, and in the hosts of other leaders who have done fierce battle for opinion. Nature never puts a great cause upon a saddle-backed nose and expects it will ride into power. It was not Victor Emmanuel, but rather the high-nosed Garibaldi, who achieved the independence of Italy.

A low-bridged nose will do for the helplessness of childhood or the servility of the African, but such a bridge will never carry a great work safely over. The aquiline nose of the Jews has large signs of aggression, defense, and protection, while the breadth of their noses indicates their money-making propensities. This form of the nose was common among the old Assyrians, as shown by their sculptures.

The projection of the tip of the nose indicates observation, the questioning faculty, and belongs to the inquisitive mind of the child. He has everything to learn, and how can he learn except as he asks questions? This faculty takes the lead in our intellectual processes, as its advanceguard position in the face plainly shows. If we inquire and observe, some discovery will follow.

Magnificently Modeled Savages.

[Foreign Letter.]

A more remarkable or unique race, says a traveler, does not exist on the continent of Africa than the Masai. They are magnificently modeled savages, beautifully proportioned, and characterized by the smooth and rounded line of the Apollo type. The women are very decently dressed in bullock's hide. They wear, by way of ornament, from twenty to thirty pounds of thick iron wire coiled round the limbs, arms and neck, besides a great assortment of beads and iron chains.

A Great Loss.

[Exchange.]

A few days after Dickens' death an Englishman, deeply grieved at the event, made a pilgrimage to Gad's hill, and as he was having some refreshment at the famous John Falstaff inn, near at hand, the effusiveness of his emotions prompted him to take the waiter into his confidence. "A great loss, this, of Mr. Dickens," said the pilgrim. "A great loss to us, sir," replied the waiter, shaking his head, "he had all his ale sent in from this house."

New Mexico's Petrifactions.

[Western Letter.]

Certain portions of New Mexico abound in petrifactions of various kinds. It is no uncommon sight to see trees three feet in diameter and fifty feet long petrified and often crystallized. The crystals—red, yellow, black or white—are often very beautiful and would make handsome ornaments for eastern parlors.

Descent of the Presidents.

[Exchange.]

Five out of the twenty-one presidents of the United States were of Scotch-Irish lineage—Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Johnson and Arthur; two of Scotch—Grant and Hayes; one of Welsh—Jefferson, and one of Dutch—Van Buren; the remaining twelve being of English decent.

The Shah's Seraglio.

[Exchange.]

The royal seraglio of Persia contains no male person over the age of 11, and no Europeans. Each royal favorite has her separate pavilion and her staff of servants, her equipages and her jewels and her revenue.

Bureau of "Information."

In New York there has been organized a bureau of "useful information," composed of literary and scientific men, who propose to answer any question propounded for a moderate sum.

FEATHER DUSTERS.

How They are Made—The Kind of Feathers Used—Other Items.

[Chicago Tribune.]

"This is where we make feather dusters," said the proprietor of the establishment, in response to an inquiry by the reporter. "My place isn't a very large one, but we make a good many dusters in the course of a year."

Referring to the advertisement, the proprietor said, "We have girls to split and bunch feathers, which is very easy and simple process. Now, look here," and leading the reporter to the rear of the room, he showed a small machine of cylindrical shape, with a long, sharp steel knife placed horizontally above it. "The girl puts the feather between the knife and the cylinder, and, the latter revolving, the feather is carried through. In the passage the stem is split, though the feather is not injured in the least, the object of this being to give pliability. In large factories this is all done by machinery, while in my place the feeding is done by hand. The feather is then run through a grinder, which removes the pith from the stem and smooths or sizes the latter down. Then they are 'bunched.' This consists simply in sorting them out according to size and fastening them together. They are then ready to be converted into dusters, the process of which you can easily understand, it being neither intricate nor difficult."

"What kind of feathers are used?"

"Those of turkeys altogether, except where peacock dusters are made."

"Where do the feathers come from?"

"I get them from the commission houses and they get them from everywhere, though the western states furnish the most. Chicago is the great feather market of the world, and in the matter of dusters there are more made here than in any other city in the United States or Europe. Dusters are shipped from here to New York, San Francisco, and all intermediate points, and even Paris, France, has been supplied from Chicago."

"Are all the feathers of the turkey utilized?"

"Yes; the wings and tail feathers are used for making what we call the split duster—those which open wide or flare at the top; the body feathers make what is known as the body duster, which is more compact."

The Dalrymple Farms.

[Northwestern Miller.]

S. A. Dalrymple of the Dalrymple farms at Casselton, D. T., recently said:

"We have this year 32,000 acres in wheat and 2,000 acres (enough to feed the stock) in oats. Nine successive crops have been raised off this land, and this year our wheat averaged fourteen, fifteen, and sixteen bushels to the acre. Next year we will begin to summer fallow, letting about 3,000 acres lie idle each season till it has all had a rest. We expect that after the summer fallowing the yield will be from twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre.

"The 34,000 acres are divided into three farms of nearly equal size. For each of these there is a headquarters, with a superintendent, bookkeeper, foreman, agent, and other officers. These farms are again divided into sections of 2,000 acres each, under a division foreman, who carries out the orders from headquarters, transmitted to him by telephone. Each division has its boarding house, with men cooks. In the spring seeding about 500 men are employed, and during the harvest about 1,000. In the fall the hands are discharged except sufficient to attend the 400 or 500 horses and mules through the winter.

"At each headquarters there is a store, upon which the cooks make requisition for all the provisions. The whole thing is so systematized that we can tell to a cent the cost of a meal's victuals for a man and the cost of seeding, repairing, or plowing an acre of ground. We ship all our wheat to Duluth, and thence to Buffalo, where we find the best market. Today wheat sells in Buffalo for 4 cents more, after the shipping expenses are allowed for, than at Duluth."

Skobeleff Under Fire.

[Exchange.]

Alexander Vereschtschagin has just concluded a series of articles based upon his personal recollections of the bloody battle of Loftcha on Sept. 3, 1877. He tells a characteristic story of Skobeleff, who, at a critical moment, dispatched the writer to obtain re-enforcements from Prince Meretinsky. Vereschtschagin received two battalions, and was told to lead them to Skobeleff. The Turkish fire at last became so terrible, however, that the men had to take shelter behind walls and houses. To appear in the open street seemed to be to court certain death.

For some time the two battalions lay quiet, but the fusillade did not cease. At the moment when it was at its hottest Skobeleff coolly and slowly came down the center of the street alone to look for the expected help. Seeing the crouching men he fell upon them furiously with his sword, and having driven them, under the hail of bullets, into something like order, he scrupulously bade them retire out of danger, while he, still slowly, went back to the front.

An Automatic Postoffice.

[London Letter.]

In the greater number of railway stations in England there is a small box on legs, painted crimson, which may be called an automatic postoffice. It is divided in two compartments. On the top are apertures admitting a penny, one being for postal cards and the other for envelopes. You drop a penny through the slot and open a little drawer beneath, and presto, you find a postal card. Drop two pennies in the right hand slot, open a corresponding drawer, and you find a stamped envelope containing a dainty sheet of note paper. These little conveniences are the property of a private company. The profit is very small, and only on the envelope and sheets of note paper. You can't get the best of it by dropping in a bad penny, as if not full weight it refuses to deliver and keeps your short coin, confiscating that as a punishment for your attempt to cheat. It has a golden rule that works only one way.

Sunday Clubs.

[Chicago Tribune "Around Town."]

The latest thing in Chicago society is the formation of Sunday clubs. They meet in the quiet shadows of the Sabbath eventide and sing sacred music and otherwise work out their mission after the manner of society. When I say "society" I do not mean the church sociable order of people, nor the art-loving and book affecting strips, but I mean out and out "society," with backing and "position," and all that sort of thing—way up and upper, you know—the kind that goes to the opera in season, and yachts in season, and flirts in all seasons.

Less than 2 per cent. of the area of our cotton states grow cotton, yet they produce three-fourths of all the cotton manufactured into textile fabrics in the United States.

MR. WILLIAMS represents a majority of the votes polled. Of the rejected ballots, a sufficient proportion was in favor of Mr. Williams, if correctly marked, to have given him a majority. The new Finance Minister does not represent a majority of the people of Victoria.

A dispatch from Ottawa says the electric light was tested in the Commons Chamber and its use is likely to become permanent. It has been in use in the lobbies before. To put it in the Chamber was a further test of the experiment. Its adoption by the House is a long step in advance for the interests of electric lighting.

A PHILADELPHIA paper says that of the $4,000,000 worth of general supplies purchased for the Canadian Pacific railroad during 1884 only $100,000 worth, or about 2½ per cent., were bought outside of Canada. Including rails, which had to be imported, and all other expenditures in England and the United States, over 93 per cent. of the $22,000,000 or $23,000,000 which the company expended in 1884 was paid to the people of Canada.

THE telephone is said to be the greatest money making invention in the history of the world. The Bell company has applied to the Massachusetts legislature for permission to increase its stock from fifteen to thirty million dollars. When it was organized a few years ago it had eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars of stock and only ten thousand dollars paid in. In 1880 the stock sold at eight hundred dollars a share, and is worth much more now.

IT is said that the opening of the great Antwerp Exposition, which was arranged for the 1st of May, will have to be postponed on account of recent increased demands for space by exhibitors. The building as originally planned was finished by January 1, but it will have to be enlarged about 20,000 square yards. The Belgian exhibit will occupy the largest amount of space, France, Germany, Italy, and Russia coming next in order. The high price asked for floor and partition room will insure the pecuniary success of the Exposition.

NICHOLAS FLOOD DAVIN has offered his services to the Government to help quell the rebellion in the Northwest. Nick's patriotism is of the vainglorious kind, else he could quietly give his services without saying anything about it. The men who are freely joining forces already formed, or those being formed, have more patriotism in their little fingers than Mr. Nicholas has in his whole body, for they quietly enlist, step out to the front and take their 50 cents a day and the chances. But evidently this patriot wants notice and a soft job in the expedition. Possibly the position of poet laureate extraordinary to the forces would suit, if the salary was placed $1500 or so.

RUSSIA'S persistent mention of the Afghan occupation of Penjdeh, as quite a recent measure, and due to the instigation of Sir Peter Lumsden, has just received a complete, though accidental contradiction from the side of her friendly neighbor Germany. Dr. A. Peterman's Mittheilungen, a well known German periodical devoted to the interests of geological research, has lately published an account of the journey made last year by Dr. Regel from Tchardjui on the Oxus to the Afghan frontier via Merv, in which the following passage occurs:—"When we were about to set out for Penjdeh on the fourth day (9th June, 1884,) some people from Yullutan brought us word that the former place (Penjdeh) had been occupied by 4000 or 5000 Afghans."

THE new Government of France has one good plank in its platform. It proposes to reduce the protective taxes by which the people are ground down, believing that a revenue tariff is best fitted to meet the wants of the Government, and the fairest available method of collecting the taxes. Not before time has the resolution to aid the people come, for in a recent address Baron de Rothschild pointed out that in Paris and in suburbs alone there are now 250,000 workers out of employment. There have been hard times in Great Britain, but they are as nothing compared with the distress in France and Germany, both of which nations submitted to a policy of high taxation on the assurance of their rulers that they were to be benefitted by it.

THE ELECTION.

The result of the election yesterday—the return of the Finance Minister by a majority of seven votes—is virtually a Government defeat. Mr. Duck entered upon the contest with the prestige that a cabinet position can give; he was backed by the official power and personal influence of the Government; he received the united support of the combined corporations—and yet he only succeeded in retaining his seat by the narrow majority of seven! He was in the field as a candidate, actively canvassing, for three weeks or over; his supporters were well organized and worked systematically and energetically to the end. And yet, thus handicapped, and coming in at the eleventh hour, Mr. Williams only lacked eight votes of being a member for Victoria to day. There was no organization on the part of Mr. Williams' supporters, and at least one hundred votes were left unpolled. With less than one week in which to prosecute his canvass, Mr. Williams has much cause for gratification at the result. He has reason to know that he represents a majority of the free and independent voters of the city of Victoria. If, under all the circumstances, the Government feel pleased with the verdict given, the opposition candidate and his friends have no cause to be disheartened. Public opinion in the capital of the Province, where the Government wields a powerful influence, has been tested, and the result is an unmistakable warning that the time of their dissolution is near at hand. The hand-writing is on the wall and during the following twelve months it will be read with many misgivings, doubts, and tribulations by the trembling ministers whose rule is daily drawing to an end.

WATER WORKS LOAN.

Last night the Council had before them for consideration a by-law dealing with a proposed loan of $70,000, to be expended in improving, extending, and building reservoirs in connection with the water works of this city, so that a steady and better supply of water may be issued to the inhabitants. The real estate voters will be asked at no distant day to authorize the Mayor and Council to effect the above loan. It is most important and necessary that there should be a storage of water on hand in case of a serious fire taking place, as under such a calamity, and if at the same time a break were to take place in the mains, as was the case a few days ago, the property of the citizens would be at the mercy of the flames. If for no other consideration we hope that property owners will cast a solid vote in favor of the proposed loan. There are, however, other reasons why the proposed improvements should be carried out, viz., the providing of the ratepayers on the higher levels with a more efficient supply, who now pay for it, and the extension of the service to many who at present cannot be furnished with water. These claims in themselves ought to be a sufficient consideration of the loan by-law being passed, as the revenue derived from new customers will almost at once increase the receipts from water alone to such a sum extra as will meet the interest and sinking fund necessary, besides dealing out common justice to large ratepayers who are in all fairness entitled to consideration at the hands of their fellow contributors.

In order to meet the interest and sinking fund required, it is not proposed to increase the taxation. The only change intended to be made is in pledging a fraction of the general revenue for the payment of interest upon, and for the repayment of the debentures issued. This fraction, taken from the general revenue, will not be missed, as the increasing receipts from the water sold will more than recoup to the general revenue fund the sum pledged. We advise all to vote for it.

THE VOTE POLLED.

True to its policy of misrepresentation the Colonist endeavors to show that had a full vote been polled Mr. Duck would have had a larger majority, whereas the reverse is the case. That journal claims that the total voting strength of the city is over 1300. Now as a matter of fact over 300 names on the list are those of persons, many of whom are dead, or are absent from the country entirely. Of the remainder about 200 are absent on steamers, at the mines, or in different parts of the Province. This reduces the total available vote in the city to about 800. So that over two-thirds of the city vote was polled. And of the ballots cast Mr. Williams would have had a majority had it not been that a few of his supporters marked their ballots improperly. These showed that they intended to vote for him, but they did not comply with the requirements of the Act. A large number of people seem to confound the municipal franchise with that of the legislative. For municipal purposes all are allowed to vote who pay a certain tax whereas no person is allowed to vote for members of the House of Commons or for members of the Local Legislature, who is not a British subject.

NORTHWEST REBELLION.

Gatling Guns Shipped to Winnipeg.

Watching the Border Cow-boy Volunteers.

Latest Hall news from the East.

IRVINE HEARD FROM.

The Minister of Militia, Hon. A. P. Caron, received a cypher dispatch from Col. Irvine, who is at Prince Albert, on the 15th. The message was dated on Saturday and was, with some difficulty forwarded to Humboldt by courier. It is understood that the telegram sets forth that while all is quiet at Prince Albert the place is surrounded by rebels, and Col. Irvine and his force are entirely helpless. He asks that reinforcements be sent at once. Scouting parties, belonging to the rebels, are in all directions, and the settlers' houses are being plundered while their lives are spared. Riel's forces are increasing and an attack on Prince Albert might any day occur.

GATLING GUNS.

Captain Howard, of Hartford, Conn., representative of the Gatling Gun company of that city, from whom the Government have purchased four Gatlings for service in the Northwest, arrived in Ottawa on Saturday evening. Capt. Howard had a long conversation with Hon. Mr. Caron, Minister of Militia. The guns were shipped by express from Hartford to Winnipeg. The Gatling gun is the very latest invention for field warfare, and a most destructive weapon. In fact one gun can cause far more havoc than a whole battalion. It weighs about 1500 lbs., and is precisely of the same design as the ordinary cannon. There are ten chambers that revolve in the barrel proper, and each chamber has an independent lock. The main barrel is eight inches in diameter. The size of cartridge used is that of the ordinary 45 government rifle calibre. Each feed drum contains 240 rounds. The firing is done by operating a crank; the cartridge is exploded by a hammer which works with such great rapidity that 120 cartridges are fired in a minute. The movement of the gun can be so adjusted as to make it either stationary or oscilating, so that the gun practice can become either scattered or centrifugal in its execution. At 700 yards, the gatling gun has been known to hit a 12x15 ft. target 396 times out of 400 shots. At 1200 yards 413 out of 600 shots have struck a 9x25 feet target. Capt. Howard left with sealed orders to report as soon as possible to Major-General Middleton at Qu'Appelle. He expects that he will be commissioned to command the battery, which will be composed of about eight men, to work the four guns.

COWBOY VOLUNTEERS.

A number of Montana cowboys are at Calgary ready to join the Canadian mounted contingent. They say that there are movements that look like the advance of a tribe of American Indians, but the people there have no fear whatever, if the government only provides arms. A son of the Hon. John Costigan is taking an active part in urging upon the government to provide means of defence—as there are men enough here to protect the town from any attack.

WATCHING THE BORDER.

General Terry, commanding the posts on the American frontier, has instructed the troops at Poplar river and Fort Assiniboine, Montana, to keep a careful outlook and see that the territory is not invaded by parties of half-breeds or Indians crossing the boundary from Canada to obtain supplies by hunting or stealing stock, as they will, under the present agreement with the Dominion Government, be deprived of their arms, horses, camp equipage and sent back under escort across the line. In case, however, they come as refugees, escaping from a force in pursuit, they will be interned, their arms will be taken away, and the fugitives will be subsisted at the expense of the Canadian authorities.

THE MANITOBA MEMBERS

Keep pressing the Government that they have made a mistake in not sending the right men into the field, and also not dispatching them by the quickest route along American lines. The Government have realized that they have made a mistake in not attending to settlers' claims earlier, and are now trying to retrieve lost ground. To-day Sir David Macpherson, minister of the interior, wired to parties at Medicine Hat saying that all their claims in regard to land would be settled before May 15 at the latest. This is a sample of what has been done in several other cases. The Government are at a loss upon whom to throw the odium of the rebellion, and have selected Macpherson. Like an unjust steward he is determined to "go the whole hog" and accede all demands. The Medicine Hat people have had delegations to Ottawa on and off for the past three years pushing their claims, but could get no satisfaction. At last the minister refused to see them and said they had no just claims. Now rebellion has broken out and, Sir David has forwarded to the delegations the result as above mentioned. The whole affair here is degenerating into a political fight, and the cry is on one side that all are Tories at the front, and on the other, that all are Liberals. Respecting the Fenian movement, it may be said that there are only a few Fenians in Ottawa, but those who are deny that there is any truth in the statement that they intend aiding Riel.

THE FROG LAKE TRAGEDY.

Telegraphic communication was re-established for a short time on the 19th between Battleford and Clark's crossing, thus allowing a dispatch to come through to Winnipeg. It is evident that the wire is not cut, but is lying on the ground unbroken. When the ground is frozen the escape of the electricity is prevented and a current established, and this seems to be the case yesterday. The information was supplied by Inspector Morris, in command of the Mounted Police at Battleford, and may be relied upon. This report was substantially as follows: W. Quinn, nephew of the Indian agent at Frog Lake, arrived at Battleford on Wednesday, having made his escape from Frog Lake at the time of the massacre. The circumstances connected with the tragedy were not recounted, owing to the lack of time, but the names of the victims were given as follows: T. T. Quinn, Indian Agent; John Delaney, farm instructor; Rev. Father Fafard, Rev. Father Le Marchand, Mr. Gowanlock, Mrs. Gowanlock, two other men, names unknown.

Mrs. Delaney, wife of the farm inspector, is a prisoner in the hands of the Indians. Mr. Quinn was unable to say what had become of the Hudson's Bay Co.'s agent, Mr. Cameron.

VANCOUVER.

COAL HARBOR.

Messrs. F. C. Innes & Co. having opened an office at Granville, on Coal Harbor, intending investors can now avail themselves of the opportunity offered by examining and purchasing directly upon the ground. The advantage of doing so is obvious, therefore, before investing your money you should visit Coal Harbor, and call upon Messrs. F. C. Innes & Co. at the same time.

DUCK DEFEATED.

In the election yesterday, 568 electors went to the poll and deposited their ballots. Of that number 555 were counted, 281 for Duck and 274 for Williams. Thirteen ballots were rejected as improperly marked. The intention of these thirteen voters was clearly signified by the manner in which they marked their ballots. Eleven intended to vote for Williams and two for Duck, and if their ballots had been properly marked the vote would have stood: Duck, 283; Williams, 285. Mr. Williams is therefore the choice of the people of Victoria, although Mr. Duck, by a fluke, is declared the representative. It will during next year be gall and worm-wood to him, as it should be to every honorable man in a similar position, to know that he only represents a minority of the electors and is filling a position and drawing a salary to which he has not a shadow of right.

TORONTO World:—While we are firm believers in military discipline, we cannot but admire the conduct of the thirty or forty men who smuggled themselves on board the train conveying the Queen's Own and Grenadiers to the Northwest. It not only showed a laudable desire to share in the fortunes of their comrades in arms, but also exhibited a patriotic devotion to the interests of the country that cannot fail to send a thrill of exultant pride through the breast of every true Canadian. In the words of Tiny Tim, we would say to them, "God bless you all and every one, and may you return safe and sound to the bosoms of your families."

ALREADY the modern Nebuchadnezzars of James Bay are trembling in their boots. The apparition is visible everywhere, and from it they cannot escape. Mene, mene, tekel, upharsin stares the quartette in the face wherever they may go. From the judgment so legibly written on the walls they are unable to flee. At last they begin to realize that a day of reckoning is not far off; that when an appeal is made to the greater parliament—the electorate of the province—a verdict will be rendered of such a crushing character as will forever consign these unworthy stewards to oblivion. There will arise in our midst many a Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego in conducting the affairs of the state. It will now be in order for the rats to desert the sinking ship. Who'll be first? Let Mr. Duck be a warning to all political proselytes.

—Strangers visiting the Mainland in search of town property, timber limits, or farming lands, should call on Rand Bros., real estate brokers, New Westminster, B. C.

—For some unexplained cause the steamship Elder coaled at Nanaimo this trip.—Post-Intelligencer. The cause is easily explained; better coal could be obtained there than across the Sound.

Worth Remembering.

The Guardian says the proprietor of the Colonist paid a visit to Port Moody a few days ago, and he gives what purports to be the result of his impressions in the Sunday's issue of his paper. We need hardly say that he seeks to damn Port Moody with faint praise and a good deal of untruth in relation to the site. It will not be very long before this gentleman will be courting Port Moodyites with the object of establishing his newspaper there. It will be, therefore, worth remembering that he did his best to injure the place, because he thought it would cut out Victoria.

Mining News.

The directors of the Burns Mountain Mining Co. held a meeting a day or two ago at which a report from W. W. Dodds, Esq., of Stanley, was considered. Owing to the difficulty in baling out the shaft at present, the work will not be commenced until June next, when active operations will be started and the tunnel, in course of construction, will be extended up to the shaft. A good season's work is expected.

CITY COUNCIL.

Some Communications—Consideration of By-Laws—Queen's Birthday.

A regular meeting of the City Council was held last night.

Present—Mayor Rithet and Councillors McKillican, Robertson, Teague, Braden, Grant, Ward, Warner and Smith.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS

Were read from E. C. Baker acknowledging receipt of letter in reference to proposed changes in the Vagrant Act. Filed.

From Wm. Grimm asking for street lines on Bay street and Rock Bay avenue. Granted.

From F. J. Stevens and others asking for a supply of water to property on the Work estate. Referred to the water works committee.

From S. Oppenheimer, on behalf of the Athletic Club, asking for a donation towards sports on Beacon Hill on 24th of May. Laid on the table.

From the pound keeper asking to have a horse provided for him while his present one is disabled owing to an accident. Laid on the table.

From Geo. Frye concerning a sidewalk on Queen's avenue, offering to lay the sidewalk in front of his premises if the lumber be furnished him. Referred to street committee and city surveyor to report.

From John Cox complaining of the soap works as a nuisance. Referred to sanitary committee to report.

From Geo. Blackall calling attention to a Chinese laundry which was a great nuisance. Referred to the sanitary committee to report.

Councillor Ward enquired if it was the intention to enforce the law which was passed referring to wash-houses?

Councillor Robertson said he hoped the by-law on the subject would not be similar to one passed at the last session, as that only provided for the removal of a nuisance from one man's door to another.

KING'S ROAD.

Tenders for grubbing and grading King's Road were read as follows: Wm. Harkins & Co., $300; Cummings & Co., $659 50; Noah LeClaire, $550; Lawson & Baxter, $790; Jas. Baker, $780. Contract was awarded to N. LeClaire on condition of furnishing suitable security.

WATER COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The Water Works Committee reported recommending laying the pipe on Chatham street as it would only cost $40 and the revenue would be $6 per month. Would not recommend a pipe on Yates street as there was not sufficient pipe on hand. Received and adopted.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.

Councillor Ward submitted a statement of receipts and expenditure from the 1st of Jan. to the 31st of March.

On the item of amount for street purposes in James Bay Ward, Councillor Smith thought the amount spent on the road to the outer wharf should not be charged against the ward as it was a public road.

Councillor Grant thought the same might be said of Yates and Fort streets, Saanich and Esquimalt roads.

Councillor Robertson said Councillor Smith might advocate that idea this year but would probably oppose it next.

A NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

Councillor Braden said the 24th of May was approaching and something should be done towards getting up a celebration. A large number of visitors would be attracted to the city and it would be a recreation for the city.

Councillor Robertson said he voted $250 towards the volunteers last year, thinking they would get some benefit from it, but he afterwards learned that the officers spent the money in champagne—Now he would not vote for any amount until he knew where it was going. He would like to see a celebration, however.

Councillor Grant said it was evident that the last speaker had not got any of the champagne. He was in favor of taking steps towards a celebration.

Councillor Warner was not in favor of giving civic money for such purposes. If any persons wanted to have a "hoodoo" on that day let them go down in their own pockets and pay for it.

Councillors Braden and Smith moved that a committee be appointed to meet the citizens on Friday evening next to arrange some celebration for the 24th of May.

Councillors Ward and Warner moved in amendment that the Mayor be requested to call a public meeting of the citizens to arrange for some celebration for that day.

The amendment was carried.

Councillor Teague thought it would be a good plan for the Councillors to go into training for a foot-race.

A NAUGHTY MAN.

Councillor McKillican said complaints were made about a man named Bell for interfering with people and making a disturbance in James Bay Ward.

Councillor Robertson said that was a matter for the police entirely.

Councillor McKillican said a Mrs. Randall had been injured owing to the state of Simcoe street. He moved that steps be taken to open out the street. The motion was seconded by Councillor Smith.

Councillor Robertson would not object to the matter being referred to the Street Committee to report, but would oppose the motion owing to the amount already expended in James Bay Ward.

Councillor Grant complained that large expenditures had been made in James Bay and Johnson street wards and very little on Yates street ward. Even the sidewalks had not been repaired. He thought the upper part of Fort street should be graveled and put in good order. He moved that the Street committee be instructed to examine and report on the cost. The motion was seconded by Councillor Braden.

This motion and that referring to Simcoe street were carried.

Councillor Robertson asked when Jumbo was to be removed from Marvin's Hill?

Councillor Smith said he hoped Jumbo would not be removed until the work was completed. Matters at Marvin's Hill had remained in statu quo for some years.

FIRE LIMITS BY-LAW.

Councillor Ward said that the by-law specifying the fire limits be reprinted, a penalty clause added, and read a second time next Wednesday evening.

BUILDINGS REMOVAL BY-LAW.

The by-law amending the Buildings Removal by-law was considered in committee of the whole, Councillor Smith in the chair. On the clause which places the value of buildings to be moved at $500, Mayor Rithet moved in amendment that the amount be fixed at $250. The motion was carried. Second reading ordered for next meeting.

WATER WORKS BY-LAW.

The Council went into committee on the by-law to raise the sum of $70,000 for the purpose of constructing works for an additional supply of water.

Council adjourned at 11:45 o'clock.

Appetizers.

VAULTS AND SAFES.

Burglar Proof Vaults and Safes for the Bank of British Columbia.

Messrs. M. W. Waitt & Co., agents for J. & J. Taylor, Toronto, have received an order from Mr. W. C. Ward, Manager of the Bank of British Columbia, to supply two vaults and two burglar proof safes for the new bank building now in process of erection on Government street. The outside doors of the vaults—one of which will be on the first and one on the second floor, will be two and a half inches thick and burglar proof. The safes, also burglar proof, for these vaults will weigh seven tons each. The manufacturers have recently had some experiments made on their safes with dynamite. The expert who operated with the dynamite and who has made some sixty tests of the same kind, paid Messrs. J. & J. Taylor the compliment of saying that he had not seen a stronger or better plan of making burglar proof safes in any American safe works. Doubtless, dynamite will be the most formidable agent bankers and safe-makers will have to guard against in the future. The Taylor safe is considered one of the best manufactured, and entirely burglar proof.

The Attorney-General's Opinion.

The Attorney-General, Hon. A. E. B. Davie, Q.C., was perhaps as badly disappointed a man as there was in Victoria yesterday evening. After the close of the poll, and when the votes were being counted, he gave it as his opinion, after mature consideration and a careful study of the situation that Mr. Duck would be elected by a majority of not less than one hundred votes. He invited a contradiction of his statement, but found no one presumptuous enough to dispute the assertion. He even offered a $100 bet on a majority of one hundred, but the Williams' men present either lacked the confidence or the cash to "gamble" with the minister. When the vote was counted and Mr. Duck's majority was found to have dwindled down to seven, the honorable the Attorney-General wilted. He felt sad and disappointed, as with elongated countenance he read the hand-writing on the wall. But, although he forfeited his character as a political prophet, he did not lose the hundred dollars.

British Columbia Indians.

A correspondent of the Toronto Globe calls attention to the ignorance on the above subject which was displayed by the leaders of both political parties during the debate in the House of Commons. He claims that the whole cause of the late dispute was occasioned by a quarrel among church officials. In regard to prospective trouble he says: "An outraged Indian or a starving Indian is always dangerous, but British Columbia Indians will never starve. They have an inexhaustible supply of fish if all else fails, and fish to them is the staff of life. I am pretty well up in British Columbia history and I cannot recall any oppression of the Indians by the Government of Canada, either Reform or Conservative. Except two or three tribes they all live on a scattered sea coast, and they have no armored ships or rifle cannon, and if left alone are as loyal to "King George" as any one among us."

The Roller Skating Craze.

The roller skating craze, so violent in this country at the present moment, swept over England several years ago. "Such was the ardor shown," says the London Standard, "that people with money were crazy enough to believe that for once the passion was a genuine one, and would endure, and so invested their cash in the erection of skating rinks all over the country. The furore was, however, as brief as are other vagaries of fashion; the enthusiasm died away; the rinks were deserted, the investors lost their money, and roller skates disappeared in the land."

MARINE NOTES.

The Alexander went up to Departure Bay last night, to bring down the Ceylon, loaded with coal for the Sandwich Islands.

The bark Innerwick, loaded with lumber from Moodyville and bound for Melbourne, anchored at Esquimalt yesterday evening.

The Result.

The following was the result of Wednesday's contest:

Duck	281
Williams	274
Spoiled ballots	13
Majority for Duck	7

Of the spoiled ballots 4 are claimed for Williams and 2 for Duck.

Misplaced Confidence.

One of our reportorial friends, on the staff of a morning journal, has become a victim of misplaced confidence. It was his opinion that Duck would poll two votes to Williams' one and he backed his judgment just five dollars' worth against that of a "Young" restaurateur. Another unfortunate! How he survives the loss of so much wealth is to us a mystery.

RIOT IN CORK.

A Desperate Fight Between the Nationalists and Police.

The Hospitals are Full of Wounded Men.

Special Dispatches to THE TIMES.

LONDON, April 15.—Up to this evening there was a feeling of relief in Government circles over the news from Cork, which tended to show that the visit of the Prince of Wales to that city had passed off quietly, and had evoked an unexpected amount of enthusiasm. Early in the evening the Government officials declared that the attempts of the Nationalists to organize an opposition had resulted in a failure, and the loyalist demonstration was surprising. These declarations were hardly uttered before the telegraph brought reports of rioting in various parts of the city, and the reports are becoming more alarming every hour. As the carriage containing the Prince was crossing Parnell Bridge, some one in the crowd threw an onion at His Royal Highness. The missile missed the Prince, but hit one of the footmen behind the carriage, and the crowd cheered. During the afternoon a detective arrested a man who was throwing stones at the Loyalists procession. A mob speedily formed and attempted to rescue the prisoner. The detective fired his revolver, but without hitting any one, and succeeded in taking his prisoner to the police court, where he was promptly released on bail furnished by the Mayor of Cork. Early in the evening the Nationalists held a mass meeting, where inflammatory speeches were made, and the latest London newspapers containing an account of the royal progress were burned in a bonfire. After a mass meeting the Nationalists scattered through the city in parties numbering from 50 to 500 men. Doors and windows were smashed, flags and decorations were torn down and heaped on blazing bonfires, and many gun stores were broken into for the purpose of arming the mob. Policemen when encountered singly or in small squads were attacked and beaten unmercifully with their own truncheons. In many cases the police rallied and charged desperately upon the mob, but they were invariably surrounded and repulsed. The police then resorted to a free use of their revolvers and bayonets. It was hand to hand fighting of a most desperate sort, the police standing back and receiving and inflicting terrible injuries. At midnight the streets were practically in possession of the mob. The policemen who remained uninjured could not attempt to do more than maintain their positions and fight on the defensive. In addition to attacks from the crowd on the streets they were exposed to a murderous volley of stones from windows, house-tops and other points of vantage. The belief at midnight was that the streets could not be cleared without the aid of artillery.

LONDON, April 16, 4 a. m.—The rioting at Cork has been suppressed. Many arrests have been made and the hospitals are full of wounded policemen and rioters.

CORK, April 16.—The streets are quiet and there is scarcely any trace of last night's riots. The reports of the riot are greatly exaggerated.

THE NORTHWEST REBELLION.

A French Regiment Refuses to Proceed Against Riel.

Special Dispatches to THE TIMES.

MONTREAL, April 16.—Great surprise has been caused here by the receipt of news that the Sixty-fifth Montreal regiment of volunteers, now at Calgary, refuse to proceed against Riel, making the excuse that they need equipment. Colonel Wilmot, of the regiment, has returned to Winnipeg. This is only a French Canadian regiment, of Montreal, and its refusal to proceed is generally supposed to be due to unwillingness to be led against French half-breeds under Riel.

The Sad Fate of a Duckite.

The remains of the last man who voted for Duck were found on the Cedar Hill road, and can be seen in a coal oil box at THE TIMES office. He evidently had been carrying more bad whiskey than he could get away with. The clothing was recognized as that worn by a weak-kneed individual, who seemed to have business at both sides of the road as he turned Spring Ridge, muttering to himself the while: ("Hic,)—No, thank you—(hic,)—Burnes. I—(hic)—voted for—(hic)—Duck this—(hic)—time; but no more—(hic)—Ducks for me—(hic), if I get over this—(hic)—disgraceful conduct—(hic)"—Singing to the tune of the Rogue's March—"No more Ducks—(hic)—no more Ducks for m-e-e—(hic)." The whiskey must have had the same effect on the unfortunate wight as the influence of the Government had on Duck's prophesied majority, which disappeared to almost nothing, as his cap, boots and clothing were found this morning by the road-side a few hundred yards further on, which goes to prove that the whiskey had a dissolving power seldom experienced, or that when he came to his senses the misled voter was so thoroughly disgusted with the exercise of his franchise that he divested himself of every particle of raiment that might remind him of being once sold.

General Grant's Dream.

In a late bulletin reference was made to the fact that during the night General Grant had dreamed, and had afterwards related his dream to the doctors and his family to show the clearness of the patient's faculties. The General said he felt as if he was off travelling and had but a single satchel. He felt himself to be without money or friends. He came to a fence and got over it very awkwardly, there being a stile only on one side. When over, he found he had left his satchel on the other side, and he could not get it without paying duty at each step of the stile as he went back for it. Then he thought he would go back home and borrow money from Mrs. Grant but when he got there he found she had only $17. That was enough, and the General said at that point he was glad to wake up. While relating this night vision the General chuckled with some jollity, particularly at the portion where he told how he was obliged to pay duty or leave the satchel.

AFGHAN DISPUTES!

Russia will Invade Afghanistan if Compelled.

The Afghans Refuse to Leave Their Positions.

Contradictory Rumors of Peace Prospects.

Negotiations for the Cession of Penjdeh.

Special Dispatches to THE TIMES.

To Invade Afghanistan.

LONDON, April 16.—A St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says, "that alarming rumors are circulating and there is a strong impression that further conflicts will soon be reported from the Afghan frontier, as it is thought unlikely that the Afghans will allow their recent defeat to pass without seeking revenge." He continues: "Russia makes no secret of her intention of invading Afghanistan if the Afghans compel her to do so. The general opinion here is that England is committing herself in forming an alliance with the Ameer, without having absolute control. An order has been sent to Cronstadt to get ready within a fortnight forty war ships including torpedo boats."

Would Seize Herat.

LONDON, April 16.—A letter from Gulran says: "Sir Peter's withdrawal from the frontier would be a signal for the immediate seizure of Herat by the Russians and would lose the support of the Afghans, who even now suspect both the Ameer and English of treachery."

Revolt at Herat.

BERLIN, April 16.—The Frankfort Zeitung says: Private telegrams from St. Petersburg report that a revolt has broken out at Herat.

Russia's Telegraph Service.

LONDON, April 16.—Charles Marvin, a writer on Central Asia, says he has learned semi-officially, that the Russian telegraph system is in full working order from Askabad to Merv. The latter place is Gen. Komaroff's base of operations and is at all times connected with his headquarters in the field by a fleet courier service. Therefore Mr. Marvin says Gen. Komaroff can send or receive messages to or from St. Petersburg within 24 hours.

To Return to England.

LONDON, April 16.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegraph Company from Cairo says it is believed that General Wolseley will soon return to England.

An Answer Given.

LONDON, April 16.—The Government has replied to the modified proposals of De Giers in regard to the debateable zone.

Cession of Penjdeh.

LONDON, April 16.—Lessar, special envoy of Russia, in an interview to-day says arrangements for the cession of Penjdeh to Russia had not been completed, but negotiations were proceeding favorably.

Opinions of the Press.

LONDON, April 16.—The Post says there is reason to believe the Government has received unsatisfactory dispatches from St. Petersburg. Russia insists on retaining the position which she has already occupied, and intimates that unless England holds herself responsible for the acquiescence of the Ameer in these advances, Gen. Komaroff will advance and secure Herat. The Post also hears that the Afghans at Penjdeh were surprised by the recent attack and a ruthless massacre followed.

The Times editorial says: "It now appears beyond a doubt that the Russian Government was apprised of the Penjdeh battle by April 10th. While the English Government is waiting for explanations it is quite possible that Gen. Komaroff is pushing forward under telegraphic orders from St. Petersburg."

Nothwithstanding the Post's rumors other papers here and on the continent, including those published at St. Petersburg, all express the opinion that the prospects of peace are brighter. The News says: Nothing has occurred to qualify the hopes of peace already expressed. The Standard says: That even rumors in relation to the condition of settlement are afloat, and that the ambassadors at London have notified their respective Governments that they consider the rupture averted.

The Czar's Opinion.

LONDON, April 16.—The Telegraph publishes a dispatch from Vienna which states that De Giers has telegraphed Baron De Stael at London, as follows: "I am charged by the Czar's personal command to request you to inform the English Government that in the Czar's opinion war would be most deplorable to both countries, also that a prompt and simple arrangement of the present difficulties may be established. De Stael telegraphs De Giers in reply that the English Government gladly accepted his communication."

Enlistment in India.

LONDON, April 16.—With reference to the report that the Government would cede Penjdeh to Russia the Standard says: We could never bring ourselves to believe that even to preserve peace they will enter into an arrangement to leave Russia in possession of territory unlawfully acquired, adding that fresh humiliation to a long list that England has already endured. Active enlistments of volunteers and reserves, commenced in India, is expected to reach over fifty thousand. Gen. Sederholm, chief engineer of troops of England, has been summoned to St. Petersburg.

Consols Advancing.

LONDON, April 16, 1 p. m.—Console opened at 95⅝, but soon advanced to 95¾ at which point they are now.

2 p. m.—Consols are now 95¾ for both accounts.

Strongers Afghans.

BERLIN, April 16.—Telegrams received here from St. Petersburg say General Komaroff has stated that the Afghans refused to obey the orders of the English officers to withdraw from their advanced position.

Last Days of Liberty.

Turkey to Occupy Egypt.

VIENNA, April 16.—Political correspondence says that England wanted Turkey to occupy Egypt under English officers. Turkey, at first objected, but it is believed she has inclined to meet with England's wishes.

The Black Sea Trade.

VARNA, April 16.—Vessels of all nationalities are crowding into the Black Sea for the purpose of transporting grain from Russian ports before an outbreak shall occur between England and Russia. Eighty-seven English vessels arrived in one week. The Porte has notified the reserves to hold themselves in readiness for immediate service.

To Gain Time.

VARNA, April 16.—The impression here is that Russia is seeking to gain time only to complete preparations to march on Herat and purchase in America a few more vessels. There is no question among the Turks, notwithstanding Gladstone's coolness in the last war, that in event of a new war Turkey would become an ally of England.

Komaroff's Version.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 16.—The Official Messenger publishes this morning a telegram from General Komaroff, which states that the remnant of the Afghan detachment, defeated in Kushk river engagement, fled to Herat. Komaroff also states that the losses of the Afghans largely exceeded the first estimate. Many perished as they struggled through the rough country on their retreat to Herat. The weather was intensely cold and snow had been falling for 12 days. The Afghans have burned the camp at Balamurghab, which Sir Peter Lumsden abandoned. A provisional government is being organized at Penjdeh to prevent anarchy. The Russian detachment remains at Dashke. The dispatch concludes with the statement that there is no necessity for a forward movement at present.

A Secretary of Legation Dead.

ROME, April 16.—Edward Pierrepont, Secretary of the American Legation of Rome, died to-day. He was sent in charge of American affairs in Italy by ex-Minister Astor, when he returned to this country.

American Dispatches.

Special Dispatches to THE TIMES.

The Pacific Mail Company.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Vice President Crocker of the Southern Pacific Co., having been asked the probability of his company acceding to the proposition from the Pacific Mail and Union Pacific Co., based on Gould's resolution concerning the withdrawal of the China line, says that as the Occidental and Oriental line of steamers was organized to bring tea to Pacific railways, and an acceptance of the Pacific Mail proposition would result in the tea going by the way of the Isthmus, it is not likely the line will be withdrawn.

Walking and Swimming.

[Herald of Health.]

Every healthy person, man or woman, should be a good walker, able at any time to walk six to twelve miles a day at least, and double that when gradually brought up to it. The points to be attended are, to see that the walk be brisk and vigorous, not of a loitering or dangling kind; that there be some object in the walk besides its being a routine constitutional—i. e., not like the staid promenade of the orthodox ladies' school, and, if possible, in pleasant company; that there be no tight clothing, whether for the feet or the body, which will constrain or impede the natural movements of the limbs and trunk; and that the walk to be taken as far as possible in the fresh country air.

In regard to this latter particular, although the towns are increasing so rapidly as to make it almost a journey to get out of them on foot, still we have so many suburban tramways and railway lines that in a few minutes we can find ourselves in the country, where the air is fresh and pure. Whenever an opportunity presents itself for a little climbing in the course of a walk, it should be taken advantage of. We gain variety of muscular action, as well as increase the exertion, and we get into the realms of purer air and fresher breeze at the same time. What may be considered as the weak point in walking as a mode of exercise is the comparatively small play which it gives to the muscles of the shoulders and chest while it is still less for those of the arm. This should be compensated for by the use of light dumbbells or Indian clubs, or some other form of exercise which brings in play the arms and shoulders.

One of the forms of exercise which requires the action of the muscles of the arms and shoulders, as well as those of the trunks and legs, is swimming. This, however, for many reasons, cannot be used as a means of exercise except by a few, and at certain seasons of the year, but where possible it should be practiced. The great pity is that boys and girls do not learn it, as a rule, while at school. Every large town should be well provided with swimming baths, and if it could be made compulsory for scholars at a certain age, say 12, to learn to swim, it would be a great advantage to all, and also be the means of saving many lives.

An Association's Singular Origin.

[Chicago Herald.]

The origin of the famous association of the Misericordia, in Florence, is singular. About five centuries ago, when Florentines were busy with the woolen trade, many porters used to gather on the Piazza di San Giovanni. It seems that cursing and swearing were as familiar to those old porters as to the modern ones.

One day a poor porter, Lucas Borsi, trying to reform his swearing companions, proposed that they should pay a fine for every oath, the money to be put into a box, and that with this money a litter should be bought to carry poor people fallen in the streets to their homes or to the hospital. The porters liked the idea, and in time their association spread all over the city. The little compagnia grew in numbers and in power, many wealthy men leaving large legacies to it. Now it owns a large amount of real estate and no man of mark passing through Florence declines to register his name among the brothers, if possible, such is the honor attached to its membership.

A Remarkable Relic.

[Venezuela Cor. Inter Ocean.]

This little narrow room which the governor occupies is the same in which the declaration of Venezuelan independence was signed, and upon its walls hangs a picture commemorating the event. Strangely enough beside this painting of the decree of liberty hangs a heavy gilt frame containing the banner which Pizarro carried in the conquest of Peru—the rarest and most interesting relic in all South America. It is about four feet square, of heavy pink silk, faded almost to white, embroidered with gold by the fair hands of Queen Isabella herself, the design being the combined escutcheons of Arragon and Castile, in an excellent state of preservation. It is with the keenest irony of contrast that this age begrimed banner should hang in the room where the first voice was raised against the tyranny it represented; here beside the document, scarcely legible now to the eye but to the mind speaking with mighty force the long story of Spanish oppression, and illustrating the first feeble and unsuccessful protest.

Electricity as a Railway Motor.

[Chicago Times.]

The following claims of superiority over steam traction are made for electricity as a railway motor. Absence of smoke and cinders; it obviates all danger from explosions; it does away with the necessity for heavy locomotives and for tenders, and allows of lighter bridges and tracks; the rails are not worn out so fast, as a perfect rotary motion is communicated to the driving wheels, and there is no pounding or jumping of the motor; no obstruction can throw the train from the track, as the current is neutralized by the obstruction itself, and the train comes to a stop before the obstruction is reached. A broken rail or an open drawbridge would break the current, so that the train could not reach the point of danger; by a proper arrangement of connections it would be impossible for any train to proceed to a section already occupied by another train, and collisions would be impossible.

Our Salt Industry.

[Industrial America.]

There are in Michigan 117 firms engaged in the manufacture of salt with the aid of machinery, and 4,500 covers for making solar salt. The manufacturing capacity of the wells is 8,875,000 barrels. The amount actually manufactured during the year ending Dec. 1 was 3,232,175 barrels. In Marine City a solid bed of pure salt was lately struck at a distance of 2,000 feet.

Breathing Through the Nose.

[Medical Journal.]

The reason that it is not healthy to breathe through the mouth is, that the air is better warmed when taken into the lungs through the nose, owing to the heat of the blood in that organ, and because the capillary projections in its cavity catch all the deleterious matter and throw it out.

An Innovation.

[Lond'n Tru h.]

With respect to the senseless habit of buying new clothes in order to mourn for a deceased relative, an Australian states that both in Australia and New Zealand the announcement of deaths in the press are often followed by the words: "By the wish of the deceased, his relatives will not wear mourning."
